Language and Literacy Scheme of Work - Key Stage 2

It is important to consider the following range of experiences for oracy, reading and writing when planning activities / lessons e.g. use paintings, music, film, still and moving images as stimuli when providing opportunities for pupils to respond orally.

Range of Experiences - Oracy

Learners should be given opportunities to:

- orally rehearse for writing
- respond orally to continuous and non-continuous texts
- see and hear different people talk, including successful speakers and people with different dialects, and respond to what is being seen and heard
- increase their confidence in language use by drawing on their knowledge of English (including standard English), Welsh and other languages
- respond orally to a variety of stimuli and ideas, including written and dynamic texts
- communicate for a range of purposes, e.g. recount and present information, instruct, argue and explain a point of view, discuss an issue, persuade, question and explore interpretations, convey feelings
- speak and listen individually, in pairs, in groups and as members of a class
- use a variety of methods to present ideas, including ICT, dramatic approaches, discussion and debate
- present, talk and perform in formal and informal contexts and for a variety of audiences including teachers, peers, younger/older learners, familiar and unfamiliar adults
- engage in activities that focus on words, their derivation, meanings, choice and impact
- listen and view attentively, responding to a wide range of communication, e.g. written and dynamic texts, theatre and poetry performance, visiting speakers, explanations
- speak clearly, using intonation and emphasis appropriately, e.g. recitation, oral storytelling
- use appropriate vocabulary suitable for the situation or purpose
- use appropriate vocabulary and terminology to discuss, consider and evaluate their own work and that of others, e.g. authors, peers.

Learners should experience a language-rich environment across the key stage where oracy, reading and writing experiences are connected

Links with ICT

Listen to audio clips considering dialects when appropriate and discuss key features of Traditional Tales

Power point presentation on a chosen subject

Watch and listen to third party recounts e.g. news / sports reports on television, radio or podcast. Develop commentary orally to recount events

Discuss graphs, tables, diagrams, data, spread sheets which are presented electronically

Discuss information gathered from the internet e.g. google, Wikipedia

Drama and Role Play

Hot seating

Adopt the role of a chosen character in real life and imaginary situations e.g. to debate, recount, inform, instruct

Interviews

Script and perform a dialogue

Oracy

Story Telling Techniques / Recitation / Presentation

Pie Corbett, Talk4Writing, Story Mountains, Big Writing

Shared reading, shared writing

Guided Reading

Recount real and imaginary events

Recite poetry

Deliver information on a chosen topic in a formal situation e.g. presentation to parents

Paired, group and class discussions

Debate, consider, evaluate information and develop ideas / methods

Voice and express opinions with supporting evidence

Diamond 9

Create mind maps to develop ideas

Compare orally written examples of instructional, persuasive explanation, recount, information and discussion texts evaluating their effectiveness

Evaluate the use of language in a range of genres, including poetry e.g. the use of rhetorical questioning

Describe own interpretation of stimulus e.g. poetry, films, paintings.

KWL Questioning grids e.g. teacher led discussion to reinforce / assess knowledge

Learners should be given opportunities to:

- read a wide range of continuous and non-continuous texts, in printed and dynamic format, as a basis for oral and written responses. These should include: extracts and complete texts

- information and reference texts
- traditional and contemporary poetry and prose
- classic children's fiction and poetry
- graphic novels and picture books
- drama, including drama in performance
- texts written by Welsh authors, texts with a Welsh dimension and texts from other cultures
- texts that have challenging subject matter, which broadens perspectives and extends thinking
- texts with a variety of structures, forms, purposes, intended audiences and presentational devices
- texts that demonstrate quality and variety in language use
- texts that reflect individual choice of reading matter
- texts with a variety of social, historical and cultural contexts
- texts that extend learners' intellectual, moral and emotional understanding
- texts with a variety of tone, e.g. humour, parody, word play
- texts that demonstrate the impact of technology on language use
- texts that present challenge
- read individually and collaboratively, e.g. paired reading, guided group reading, shared reading
- read for different purposes, e.g. for personal pleasure; to retrieve, summarise and synthesise key information; to interpret and integrate information; to verify information; to deepen understanding through re-reading; to identify language devices used by the writer in order to analyse purpose; to identify alternative readings of a text
  - develop appropriate vocabulary and terminology to discuss, consider and evaluate their own work and that of others, e.g. authors, poets, peers in written and dynamic texts.

Learners should experience a language-rich environment where oracy, reading and writing experiences are connected to ensure that they become enthusiastic, independent and reflective readers.

Whole Class

Focus on specific content e.g. characterisation, language features / effects, dialogue, what's inferred and structure in both fiction, non-fiction and within the six text types

Read and re-tell a wide range of texts from a variety of media, including ICT and classic novels and those with Welsh dimensions e.g. myths and tales

Language experience e.g. add adjectives, metaphors or similes to simple text to enhance the readers experience and understanding.

Shared book experience; including annotation and teacher question led discussion to ensure progression and understanding.

Model reading using punctuation for effect, drawing upon dialects and evoking the emotions of children.

Create spider charts, timelines, tables, boxing-up grids etc. to plan work, categorize information and to create structure for final written outcomes.

Phonics

Small group

Read and re-tell

Guided reading using reading prompt questioning cards e.g. to introduce texts, ask open question questions about the text and characters, model language patterns that may be unfamiliar, encourage prediction and occasionally address letter-sound relationships or clusters.

Use of recall questions

Prompts for responding to the text e.g. sequencing, high frequency words.

Phonics

Reading

Individual

Supported reading of fiction and non-fiction to refine and develop skills, knowledge and understanding of texts.

Use past test papers and booklets to model different question styles and possible answers both orally and in writing.

Use the school library to select relevant material for research and personal interest.

Range of experiences - Writing

Learners should be given opportunities to:

- write for a variety of purposes, including to: recount
  - instruct
  - inform
  - explain
  - argue/persuade
  - discuss/analyse
  - evaluate
  - narrate
  - describe
  - empathise
- write in a range of continuous and non-continuous texts in a variety of forms, e.g. letters, diaries, articles, stories, reports, speeches, short plays and scripts, leaflets, advertisements, posters, web pages, questionnaires, reviews, soliloquies
  - write for a range of authentic audiences, real or imagined, e.g. peers, younger learners, teachers, family members, publications, local politicians, historical and fictional characters
  - produce poetic writing, using imagery and poetic devices
  - use a wide range of written and dynamic stimuli, e.g. stories, picture books, images, poems, experiences, film, paintings and music
  - use appropriate vocabulary and terminology to discuss, consider and evaluate their own work and that of others, e.g. authors, peers.

Learners should experience a language-rich environment where oracy, reading and writing experiences are connected.

Linking Oracy and Reading to Writing

Shared reading

Role Play

Hot Seating

Map a story/Retell – Pie Corbett

Change the story e.g. outcome of a dilemma

Cause and effect e.g. how to actions result in reactions

Story Breakdown – Setting, Theme, Characters, Events e.g.
Setting – wood, Grandmother's house

The Process of Writing

Select genre/topic

Identify success criteria

Select content and plan and research the topic

Individual, paired and group tasks leading to writing

Draft

Improve text/make adjustments

Proof read and check spelling

Share with others

Assessment for learning throughout the process

← Writing →

Writing Skills

Directionality – left to right, top to bottom

Spaces between words

Sentence structure

Spelling and Grammar

Use of vocabulary

Activities should include when possible:

- Opportunities to develop and use a variety of punctuation within oracy, reading and writing tasks e.g. through shared reading and writing, Talk for Writing/ Pie Corbett strategies and VCOP pyramid.
- Opportunities to develop phonological knowledge through explicit teaching, including blending for reading and segmenting for spelling e.g. Letters and Sounds and purposeful planned opportunities to build on/reinforce skills within other areas of the curriculum.
- Opportunities to develop handwriting in accordance with the school policy and the requirements of the Literacy and Numeracy Framework.
- Opportunities to develop ICT skills.
- Opportunities to establish Learning Objectives, agree Success Criteria and redraft for improvement, using personal / on-line and formal dictionaries thesauruses when appropriate
